Aside from working, my wife and I enjoy traveling and trying new and different adventures in life.

Little Fork Volunteer Fire & Rescue Company was chosen to be in a documentary after answering a casting call for volunteer stations through the National Volunteer Fire Council. The NVFC has partnered with Vignette, eChannel Productions, and John Deere to create a documentary about volunteer firefighting in the U.S. The filmmakers looked for people and stories to feature and Little Fork was one of eight companies to be chosen out of hundreds of entries. In addition to being a fire and rescue company, Little Fork houses The Little Fork Volunteer Technical Large Rescue Team which is the only volunteer group serving the Commonwealth of Virginia. On October 9th, while Little Fork was having a fundraising trail ride, the film crew from Vignette came out and filmed volunteers, community members, the construction progress of the new station and even trail ride participants and the trails using go-pro cameras for their documentary. Filming ended about 9:30 that evening in the Chiefs kitchen after a 2-hour interview. It was a long day, but the crew shot a lot of great footage!

As for the trail ride itself, the weather was clear, the trails were in good shape and a good time was had by all. We could not have asked for a better time!

Little Fork could not have done any of this without the tremendous support from our neighbors and our community. We would like to thank all who participated in the events and who agreed to be on camera. We are very grateful to Susan Smith for the use of Three Oaks Farm and for agreeing to have a film crew on the property. Neighbor helping neighbor that's what it's all about and we appreciate it beyond words.

Resident Spotlight for Dogwood

Mr. Kaye Lenn was born on December 27, 1927 to a family with 3 older brothers and 2 sisters. His brothers played for major league baseball teams. After serving in the Army, Kaye earned a bachelor's degree in Physical Fitness from the University of Montana and a Certificate of Physical Therapy from the Medical College of Virginia. Kaye operated his own physical therapy practice where he worked for many years. He was most interested in flying airplanes and obtained a pilot's license and eventually earned over 2000 hours of pilot time. Kaye has always enjoyed baseball and continues to follow his favorite team, the Washington Nationals. He is often seen walking around the facility or exercising in the rehab gym as physical fitness is very important to him.
